SOUTH EAST ASIA

DATE OF ISSUE:

LETTER FROM THE CHIEF

Dear Collector,

This edition of Fascination is a personal one for me as it features six cities in South East Asia. As a native of Thailand, I am very proud of our rich history and various sites that have been recognized by the UNESCO World Heritage Centre. From the pagodas of Ayutthaya, Thailand, to the rice terraces of the Cordillera mountain range in the Philippines, UNPA hopes to raise awareness for the need to preserve the world's cultural legacy. Our in-house artist, Sergio Baradat, has created some beautiful designs which I am sure you will appreciate.

I am also proud of the six stamps created for the UNICEF End Violence Against Children campaign (#ENDviolence) to be issued in August. This is a growing concern throughout the world. To bring attention to this important issue, UNPA turned to artist Chris Sharp, who created some very evocative images.

You can discover many more images on our website at unstamps.org, where you can also vote for the best designs of 2014. If you have the time, please take a moment to tell us which stamp designs inspired you the most. Each voter will be entered into a lottery and become eligible to win a special prize. There are so many wonderful stamps and topics to choose from. The designs with the most votes will be published in a future edition of Fascination.

As always, I thank you for your loyalty to our UNPA stamp programme and welcome your comments and suggestions. I also look forward to meeting many of you at future stamps shows and first day of issue ceremonies.

World Heritage - South East Asia

Heritage is our legacy from the past, what we live with today, and what we pass on to future generations. Cultural heritage and natural heritage are both irreplaceable sources of life and inspiration.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) seeks to encourage the identification, protection and preservation of cultural and natural heritage around the world. This is embodied in an international treaty called the Convention concerning the Protection of the World Cultural and Natural Heritage, adopted by UNESCO in 1972. UNPA is pleased to feature the 2015 World Heritage Series on six sites in South East Asia.

THE DESIGNS

49¢ LUANG PRABANG, LAOS

Luang Prabang is an outstanding example of the combination of traditional Lao architecture and 19th and 20th century European colonial style buildings. Its unique, remarkably well-preserved townscape illustrates a key stage in the blending of these two distinct cultural traditions. Luang Prabang is exceptional for both its rich architectural and artistic heritage. The site was inscribed on the World Heritage List in 1995.

$1.20 BOROBUDUR TEMPLE, INDONESIA

The Borobudur Temple is one of the greatest Buddhist monuments in the world. The monument is located in the Kedu Valley in Central Java, Indonesia. It was built during the 8th and 9th centuries CE during the reign of the Syailendra Dynasty. The Borobudur Temple is truly a masterpiece of Buddhist architecture and monumental arts. The site was inscribed on the World Heritage List in 1991.

CHF 1,40 ANGKOR WAT, CAMBODIA

Angkor, in Cambodia's Northern Province of Siem Reap, is one of the most important archaeological sites in South East Asia. Stretching over some 400 square kilometres, Angkor Archaeological Park contains the magnificent remains of the different capitals of the Khmer Empire, from the 9th to the 15th century. With its impressive monuments, cultural, religious and symbolic values, the site is a unique concentration of features testifying to an exceptional civilization. It was inscribed on the World Heritage List in 1992.

CHF 1,90 CORDILLERA, PHILIPPINES

The rice terraces of the Philippines Cordillera mountain range on the island of Luzon are living cultural landscapes devoted to the production of one of the world's most important staple crops, rice. They illustrate a remarkable degree of harmony between humankind and the natural environment of great aesthetic appeal, as well as demonstrating sustainable farming systems in mountainous terrain, based on a careful use of natural resources. The fruit of knowledge handed down from one generation to the next have helped to create a cultural landscape of unparalleled beauty. The site was inscribed on the World Heritage List in 1995.

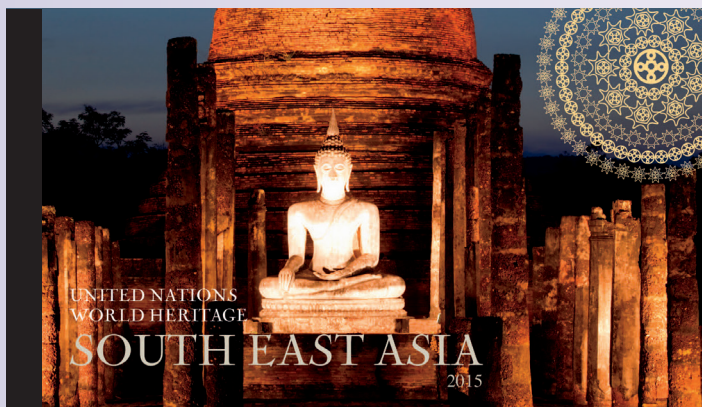

€ 0,80 AYUTTHAYA, THAILAND

The historic city of Ayutthaya, founded in 1350, was the second capital of the Siamese Kingdom. It flourished from the 14th to the 18th centuries, during which time it grew to be one of the world's largest and most cosmopolitan urban areas and a centre of global diplomacy and commerce. Its historic remains are characterized by the remnants of tall towers and Buddhist monasteries of monumental proportions, which give an idea of the city's past size and the splendor of its architecture. The site was inscribed on the World Heritage List in 1991.

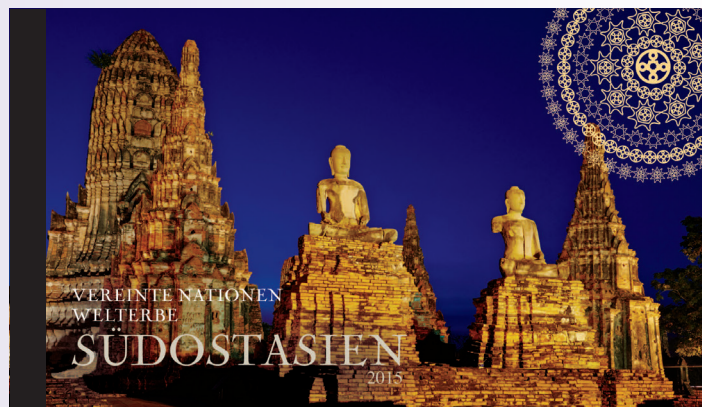

€ 1,70 HUÉ MONUMENTS, VIET NAM

The complex of Hué Monuments is located in the city of Hue in central Viet Nam. Hué was founded as the Viet Nam capital city by Gia Long, the first emperor of the Nguyen Dynasty, in 1802. The site was inscribed on the World Heritage List in 1993.

END VIOLENCE AGAINST CHILDREN

Violence against children and adolescents occurs everywhere – at home, within families, in schools, communities and public places. It occurs during conflict and even in times of peace. It manifests itself in its most prevalent forms of domestic and sexual violence. Violence also occurs in the form of child marriage, denying girls access to formal education, forced labour and trafficking.

Just because you can't see violence, it doesn't mean it isn't there. We must make the invisible, visible. This was the underlying message as UNICEF launched in July 2013 a global initiative to end violence against children and adolescents. The initiative urges collective action to end violence against children, highlighting the fact that violence is everywhere, but often happens out of sight or is tolerated due to social and cultural norms. Under the banner "Make the invisible, visible", the initiative aims to raise awareness as a first step toward modifying attitudes, behaviours and policies.

Violence can be prevented. Formulation and implementation of strong laws, backed by services for protection and strong communication interventions for social and behaviour change, is vital to guaranteeing respect for the fundamental rights of children and adolescents, most notably their right to security and a violence-free life. Protecting children is at the heart of the UNICEF mandate. The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child specifies that every child everywhere has the right to be protected from all forms of violence. For more information about this topic, please visit www.unicef.org/endviolence.
