40TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ERADICATION OF SMALLPOX

Item No. 541.6052

On 8 May 2020, UNPA issued a stamp to commemorate the fortieth anniversary of the eradication of smallpox in conjunction with the World Health Organization (WHO).

The World Health Organization commemorated the fortieth anniversary of smallpox eradication on December 2019, recognizing the historic moment on 9 December 1979, when the end of smallpox was confirmed. In May 1980, the thirty-third World Health Assembly issued its official declaration that "the world and all its peoples have won freedom from smallpox".

Until it was wiped out, smallpox had plagued humanity for at least 3,000 years, killing 300 million people in the Twentieth century alone. The successful smallpox eradication programme yielded vital knowledge and tools for the field of disease surveillance, the benefits of vaccination and the importance of health promotion in fighting other diseases. It also laid the foundation for stronger national immunization programmes worldwide, underpinning the establishment of primary health care in many countries and creating momentum towards universal health coverage.

There are many lessons to learn from the eradication of smallpox that can help fight the COVID-19 pandemic today and prepare for future pandemics. The eradication of smallpox offers us hope and shows us what global solidarity can achieve.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

200TH BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

INTERNATIONAL YEAR OF THE NURSE AND THE MIDWIFE 2020

Item No. 741.7056

On 12 May 2020, UNPA issued a €1,35 definitive stamp to honour the bicentenary of the birth of the founder of modern nursing, Florence Nightingale (1820–1910).

The quote on the stamp, which is in German, reads:

"Live life when you have it. Life is a splendid gift – there is nothing small about it."

Florence Nightingale was born on 12 May 1820 in Florence, Italy, the city that inspired her name. Nightingale came to prominence while serving as a manager and trainer of nurses during the Crimean War, in which she organized care for wounded soldiers. While making her night rounds she became known as The Lady with the Lamp.

During her career, Nightingale laid the foundation for professional nursing by establishing the Nightingale Training School for Nurses at the St. Thomas' Hospital in London in 1860. Her efforts to reform health care greatly influenced the quality of care in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

Nursing is often referred to as the caring profession. Around the world, nurses and midwives play a crucial role in health promotion, disease prevention and the delivery of care in all settings. They are often the first and only point of health contact and care in their communities.

Nurses and midwives play a vital role in providing health services and are the largest professional group in the health-care workforce, accounting for 50 per cent of the personnel globally. Nearly 70 per cent of the health and social workforce are women. They often work in challenging circumstances; undervalued, underresourced and overworked.

The World Health Organization (WHO) declared 2020 as the International Year of the Nurse and the Midwife to recognize the critical contribution both professions make to global health. Now more than ever, this year-long effort to recognize nurses and midwives is a time to celebrate their work, highlight the challenging conditions they often face and advocate for increased efforts to address the global health-care worker shortage.

WE ARE ALL IN THIS TOGETHER

HELP STOP THE SPREAD OF COVID-19

We are living in unprecedented times. The World Health Organization (WHO) is leading and coordinating the global health response to coronavirus, helping to ensure all countries are ready to prevent, detect and respond to the pandemic. To be effective we need people everywhere to adopt public health precautions, act in solidarity and prevent the spread of misinformation.

The United Nations in March 2020 requested a global call to creative people around the world for the COVID-19 response to help stop the spread of this disease. Thousands of creative people from around the world generously came together to support the United Nations and WHO's efforts and communicate important visual messages to unite the world during this pandemic.

The stamps represent six key public health messages by the United Nations and WHO to help stop the spread of COVID-19, namely Personal hygiene, Myth-busting, Physical distance, Spread kindness, Know the symptoms, and Solidarity.

UNPA is issuing these stamps to support the COVID Solidarity Response Fund organized by WHO. A surcharge of 50 cents for the New York denominations, CHF 0,50 for the Geneva values and €0,50 for the Vienna values has been added to each stamp. Funds raised through the sale of the stamps will go directly to supporting COVID-19 suppression efforts.

We hope that by working in solidarity we can help stop the spread of this global pandemic. No one can do everything, but everyone can do something.

Together we can save lives, protect resources and care for each other.

Customers who are currently subscribed to the mini-sheets (310, 410, 510, 610, 710, 810) will be converted to the new UNPA product type ALL-in-ONE SHEET. We will transition your account automatically and convert the highest quantity of both mint and cancelled to this new product type. If you have any questions or wish to make any changes to your account, please contact our office.

Customers who subscribe to se-tenant single (09) will receive the se-tenant single stamps. If customers subscribe to a set of se-tenant single, they will receive a full sheet. Customers who subscribe to first day cover triple will receive a jumbo envelope with the stamp sheet affixed.
