UNITED AGAINST RACISM AND DISCRIMINATION

On 19 March 2021, the United Nations Postal Administration issues three mini-sheets of ten stamps each, on the theme "United Against Racism and Discrimination". The International Day for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination is 21 March annually.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) has been at the forefront of the fight against racism since its creation in 1945. In 1978, it adopted the Declaration on Race and Racial Prejudice which reaffirms that "All human beings belong to a single species and are descended from a common stock. They are born equal in dignity and rights and all form an integral part of humanity". This quote appears on the stamp sheets in English, French and German respectively.

For this stamp series, the UNPA focuses on the UNESCO Master Class Series to combat Racism and Discriminations. Launched in November 2019 as a global "training for trainers" initiative, the series seeks to empower students to become youth champions in their own schools and communities and spread awareness on how to deconstruct the mechanisms underlying racism and discriminations.

Using a human rights-based approach, the courses address various topics related to inclusion and non-discrimination, such as racial discrimination, gender-based discrimination, rights of indigenous peoples and discrimination against persons with disabilities.

"The Master Class" series artwork which appears on the stamp sheets was designed by Abracadabra Design Studio (Mexico).

ENDANGERED SPECIES 2021

On the 7th of April, the United Nations Postal Administration issues its 2021 Endangered Species stamps featuring species of fauna and flora that are endemic to a certain environment or region.

The Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES) is an international agreement between Governments. Currently having 183 States Parties, the Convention aims to ensure that the international trade of specimens of wild animals and plants does not threaten their survival.

For over 25 years, the United Nations Postal Administration has issued stamps to celebrate the many beautiful and varied forms of wild fauna and flora worldwide with the intent to raise awareness about the multiple benefits of conservation.
