2025 ENDANGERED SPECIES

On 25 April 2025, UNPA continues its Endangered Species stamp series with the issuance of 12 stamps, three maximum cards, a limited-edition silk cover and the 2025 Endangered Species folder.

For 34 years, UNPA has issued stamps in support of the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES) to raise awareness of the multitude of benefits that conservation provides to people.

This year's Endangered Species stamps series highlights a remarkable collection of animal and plant species across various taxonomic groups and ecosystems facing diverse wildlife conservation challenges.

The 2025 series also celebrates the thirtieth anniversary of the Agreement on the Conservation of African-Eurasian Migratory Waterbirds (AEWA), featuring the white-headed duck, the African penguin and the grey-crowned crane, which are listed both in the CITES appendices and the AEWA species list. This collaboration emphasizes the importance of multilateral environmental agreements working in complementarity with each other to achieve shared global biodiversity goals

INTERNATIONAL YEAR OF GLACIERS' PRESERVATION

VIENNA SPECIAL EVENT SHEET

Item No. 794.5949

To highlight the importance of glacier preservation, UNPA will issue a special event sheet of 10 stamps in the denomination of €1,20 on 6 June 2025.

The General Assembly proclaimed 2025 as the International Year of Glaciers' Preservation to raise awareness on the vital role glaciers, snow and ice play in the climate system and water cycle, as well as the far-reaching impacts of rapid glacial melt.

Glaciers are crucial for regulating the global climate and providing freshwater for billions of people. However, due to climate change, driven mainly by human activities, these vital resources are rapidly melting.

The preservation of glaciers stands as one of humanity's most urgent challenges. These ancient ice formations are not just frozen water – they are the guardians of our planet's climate history, the source of life for billions, and sacred places for many cultures. Their rapid disappearance is a stark reminder that we must act now.

The designs on the sheet feature the following:

Left column, top to bottom:

1. The Perito Moreno Glacier, Argentina
2. Mount Gongga and glacier in Hailuoguo Glacier Forest Park, China
3. Alaska glaciers scenic view from Prince William Sound bay, United States
4. Pasterze Glacier, Austria
5. Franz Josef Glacier, New Zealand

Right column, top to bottom:

6. Jökulsárlón Galcier Lagoon with glaciers and mountains of Vatnajökull, Iceland
7. Icy waters and Lambert Glacier, Antarctica
8. Aletsch Glacier, Switzerland
9. Jostedalsgreen National Park, Norway
10. Towering great icebergs in the Ilulissat Icefjord, Greenland

The background of the sheet features Ilulissat glaciers in Disko Bay, Greenland.

The sheet was designed by Rorie Katz (United Nations).

The stamp sheets may be personalized with a photograph to replace the United Nations logo. Customers can visit the UNPA stamp shops in New York or Vienna to have their photos taken in person, or they can upload their photos directly to the UNPA website unpa.org/personalized-stamps. Ordering instructions are available on the website.

Customers with standing orders for Vienna special event sheets will automatically receive this item through their accounts. All others can purchase the sheet in either mint or cancelled condition using the order form attached to this issue of Fascination.

NO NUKES

The United Nations is commemorating the eightieth anniversary of the atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Japan, which took place on 6 and 9 August 1945, respectively. As we reflect on the devastation caused by nuclear weapons, this anniversary serves as a powerful reminder of the urgent need for global disarmament and the prevention of future nuclear conflict.

The United Nations has long supported efforts to eliminate nuclear weapons through various treaties, resolutions and international cooperation. Its key initiatives include the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons and the Treaty on the Prohibition of Nuclear Weapons.

Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons

This treaty, which entered into force in 1970, aims to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons and technology, and to promote cooperation in the peaceful uses of nuclear energy. It also seeks to advance the goal of nuclear disarmament.

Treaty on the Prohibition of Nuclear Weapons

This treaty, which entered into force in 2021, establishes the first legal framework specifically aimed at eliminating nuclear weapons. It prohibits the development, testing, production, acquisition and use of nuclear weapons.

The United Nations also promotes disarmament through other initiatives, including the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty, and the Partial Test Ban Treaty. These treaties further contribute to the broader goals of the United Nations in preventing the spread of nuclear weapons and promoting nuclear disarmament.

On this anniversary, the United Nations message to the world is to remember the lessons of these tragic events and recommit to a world free from nuclear weapons, emphasizing the importance of multilateralism, sustainable development and peace.

In support of the United Nations efforts to promote No Nukes, UNPA is issuing three stamps in the denominations of $1.70, CHF 1,90 and €1,40.
